

Customers

City & Guilds Training – Electrical (TS4U)

Last modified 20-October-2025

Overview	Response
City & Guilds Training - Electrical (Trade Skills 4U) training expertise continues unchanged	The specialist electrical training you rely on remains exactly as you know it. City & Guilds Training - Electrical (Trade Skills 4U) continues to operate as a separate entity, maintaining our deep expertise and focused approach to technical training. The industry-specific knowledge, quality delivery, and specialised solutions that set us apart continue without interruption.
Your team stays with you	The same experts who understand your technical requirements stay with you. Your existing City & Guilds Training – Electrical (Trade Skills 4U) contacts remain your dedicated partners. The team members who know your industry needs, technical specifications, and organisational objectives continue to support you every step of the way. For any questions, we're here: - Email: sales@cityandguildstraining.com - Phone: 01302 815530
Training programmes and learners continue seamlessly	Every programme, every learner, every commitment continues as planned. Your contracts remain with City & Guilds Training – Electrical (TS4U) with no impact on your apprentices. All training programmes across our core specialisations continue unchanged: City & Guilds Training – Electrical (TS4U) Core Industry: - Electrical Through City & Guilds Training: - Engineering - Nuclear - Rail - Transport - Construction - Project Management

Overview	Response
	We continue delivering at your preferred locations – whether that's your facilities, our training centres, or other venues that work for you.
Quality standards remain rigorous	The same high standards you expect, the same Ofsted rating you trust. Our rigorous approach to training delivery and quality assurance continues unchanged. This announcement doesn't affect our Ofsted rating or any of our quality commitments to you.
Your contracts and admin stay simple	Everything continues on the same terms. Your contract with Trade Skills 4U remains unchanged. From 31 October 2025, Trade Skills 4U Limited (trading as City & Guilds Training) will become part of City & Guilds Limited, which is joining the PeopleCert group. We'll send you a formal notification shortly after this date. Our invoicing, administrative processes, bank details, and website all remain the same – no changes to how we work together day-to-day.
In short: The City & Guilds Training – Electrical (Trade Skills 4U) you trust continues to deliver the same specialist technical training excellence	We continue to operate independently while benefiting from being part of a larger organisation that supports our continued growth and innovation in technical training.